The Cyprus Institute of Marketing

The Cyprus Institute of Marketing (CIM) was established in 1978 in Nicosia and has been operating in Limassol since 1984. As Cyprus' first Business school, it was set up to fulfill the gap existing in Cyprus' Educational System. During the past 34 years, CIM has successfully established itself as a European Business School providing the opportunity to more than 5000 individuals to acquire higher qualifications with a business orientation. Offering exclusively evening classes for in-career individuals who did not have the chance to study abroad but have had the will to learn and further their personal development, CIM has since its inception been a pioneer in learning for adults and in-career people. Characterised as a "Second-Chance Institution", at CIM Learning Never Ends.

University of West London

The University of West London is a British University with sites in Ealing and Brentford and an educational hub in Berkshire. It traces its roots back to 1860, when teaching began on its Ealing site and until 1st May 2011 it was named Thames Valley University.
